1. What is the background of MEET U.S.?

MEET U.S. is an initiative created under the auspices of the Middle East Partnership Initiative (MEPI). The MEPI, announced by Secretary of State Colin Powell on December 12, 2002, gives sustained and energetic attention to economic, political and educational reform – areas of need identified in the UNDP's Arab Human Development Report. MEET U.S., modeled on the Special American Business Internship Training (SABIT) and administered by the Market Access and Compliance (MAC) division at Commerce, will combine professional exchanges, training, and internships to promote entrepreneurship and expand executive and commercial relationships between the United States, North Africa and the Middle East.

2. What type of training will MEET U.S. provide?

The participants will be trained as a group throughout the four-week program. All of the training will be based on the needs of the selected group. Participants will attend an initial orientation and training session in the Washington D.C. area, which will encompass topics related to the healthcare industry including business plan development, strategies, cross-cultural communication and business negotiations. The remaining portion will consist of various site visits to medical companies, facilities and universities throughout the United States. Training will be focused on important healthcare subjects, such as hospital management, Employee management, health insurance, medical services, technology and equipment. Participants will meet with American counterparts to discuss various management techniques and industry technologies necessary to administer hospitals in the twenty-first century.

Applicants must be in a position of significant responsibility in their employing organizations and have several years of management experience. Candidates working in private healthcare organizations/clinics will be given preference from those in public facilities.

5. Will the training be conducted in English, Arabic or French?

Although helpful, fluency in English is not required. The MEET U.S. Program will provide simultaneous interpretation into Standard Arabic and French, as needed.

6. Where do applicants send completed applications?

Candidates can submit completed applications to the U.S. Embassy or Consulate within their country. U.S. Embassy/Consulates will forward all applications to the Washington D.C. staff for final review.

7. How are participants selected?

Washington staff will screen all applications. Top applicants will be notified and interviewed at the designated American Embassy. Final selection will be based on candidate's position within her company, experience, leadership ability, ability to spread new ideas inside and outside of his/her organization, and personal goals.

8. How many participants will be selected for each program?

Eighteen (18) to twenty (20) participants will be selected to participate in each group-training session. Alternates will be identified in the event a selected participant cannot participate for any other reason.

Individuals that are not selected to participate in a MEET U.S. program may re-apply for future MEET U.S. programs.

During the one-week training session in Washington, the schedule will run approximately from 8:30 am-5pm and there may be evening activities planned as well. While traveling throughout the U.S., you should expect full workdays – often it will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. In general, your evenings and weekends should be free, but the Program Manager may make arrangements for special activities. A detailed itinerary will be provided to those selected.

MEET U.S. Frequently Asked Questions

11. What about health insurance?

The U.S. Government is concerned about the health and well being of each and every participant. To assist you, we will provide medical insurance for the duration of your training. The insurance will cover medical treatment for injuries, medical emergencies and medical evacuation, if needed. This policy does not provide benefits or cover care for pre-existing conditions or dental care (except for dental injuries.) As you may know, medical care is extremely expensive in the United States. You will be responsible for an out-of-pocket, non-reimbursable deductible payment (it was $75 last year – so it should be around that amount this year) for each appointment with a doctor, clinic, or hospital, and a co-payment for any medication you might need as a result of this visit.

12. What is the per diem allowance supposed to cover?

Participants will receive $US34 per day for each day they are in the United States. The per diem is intended to cover modest meals and some incidental expenses such as laundering and tips. It is not meant to replace your salary or cover all of your expenses. We will give you a lump sum during your first week's orientation in Washington. We highly recommend that you purchase traveler's checks as a safeguard against theft and will arrange a time at the bank when you may do so. Traveler's checks are accepted as cash in most places and hotels will also cash them for you.
